4 Provincial Consultation on an updated 'Sustainable Development Act' (SD Act)
		Background - Province did Tomorrow Now consultation, have needed to do this for some time. A number of NGOs have been working on feedback. The Act does have a larger impact on the University than it does to the NGOs, as it has provisions that apply specifically to universities. How would a new Act contribute to our processes? Alana has drafted some initial comments. But we now have more flexibility to add further comments. In 2005 Mark Burch determined that there was no real clarity in the existing Act as to what compliance might mean. No way to measure it. What should we focus on in our response -- what affects us or general feedback? Might be too complex to do both. We could organize a roundtable capturing both internal processes and broad critiques. Probably the week after next. We should develop some specific questions for stakeholders to address. Council members should review submissions. We should get a faculty member - maybe Alan Diduck - to offer an information session. Chris Leo might be available. Ken Gibbons? Could we get some student support? Perhaps we should organize subgroups to address certain questions. Call for participation and comments should make specific reference to wording in the existing Act pertaining to universities. Questions: (to operational depts) <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Have you encountered existing act?</li> <li>2. What changes in the Act would help?</li> </ol> Other questions to be developed aimed at faculty and students.	Circulate questions to operational departments; contact potential faculty to facilitate a round-table discussion with students and other staff; circulate draft to Council for further comment prior to March 21st deadline.	Alana	Submission deadline: March 31
